

Marcella Chow

Marcella Chow
Vice President
Global Market Strategist

Marcella Chow, Vice President, is a Global Market Strategist based in Hong Kong. As part of the Global Market Insights Strategy team, she is responsible for formulating and delivering J.P. Morgan Asset Management's view on the market, economy and investing to both institutional and retail investors across Asia.

Prior to joining J.P. Morgan in 2015, Marcella worked as an Emerging Asia economist at Bank of America Merrill Lynch with a focus on the macroeconomic environment and its implications for investment in equity, interest rate and foreign exchange markets.

Marcella obtained a Bachelor of Science degree in Economics from London School of Economics and Political Science and a Master of Economics from the New York University.